In addition to providing reliable electrical connections between cells and modules, the routing or interconnection of communication lines to the cells and modules must also be considered. Prior art interconnections are often achieved by routing signals via one or more vias. Vias are expensive to fabricate, often requiring precise alignment of the layers of the wafer, and can also be a source of signal degradation and noise. For these and other reasons there is a need for the present invention.Q: iOS: JSON parsing from a PHP script I'm trying to parse some JSON from a web-service using JSON in my iOS application. I'm using NSMutableURLRequest. The web-service returns a JSON object like this: { "msg":"OK", "userId":1, "user":{"id":1, "name":"peter", "birthday":"1980-05-07", "phone":"0667150401", "address":{"street":"123 street", "postal_code":"12345", "city":"city", "state":"randomstate" "country":"US"} } This is my code: NSMutableURLRequest *request = [[[NSMutableURLRequest alloc] init] autorelease]; [request setURL:[NSURL URLWithString:@""]]; [request
